PERSONAL INSURANCE PRODUCT MANUAL*Additional Buildings with Living Quarters

- Additional buildings with living quarters must be added as a separate risk.
- Living quarters means finished living area that includes a kitchen, bathroom and sleeping quarters.
- All additional buildings must be insured 100% to value.
- Use the applicable form based on the current or intended use and occupancy of the additional building(s), subject to eligibility:

Use	Occupancy	Form
Secondary	Insured	Secondary Homeowner
Principal or Secondary	Immediate family member (child or parent) *	Secondary Homeowner
Rented	Tenant	Rented Dwelling
Seasonal	Insured or family member	Seasonal

*Contact your underwriter to extend Personal Property, Additional Living Expenses, and Liability coverages to the immediate family member(s).

Policy Term

All rates are annual unless otherwise stated.

Premium Calculations

All final policy premiums are rounded to the nearest whole dollar. Amounts of .50¢ or more will be rounded to the next whole dollar.

Applications/Questionnaires

We require a fully completed and signed CSIO application (including prior carrier name and policy number) and, where applicable, signed and fully completed questionnaires. All insured's occupations and dates of birth are also required.

Postal Codes

We require postal codes for each property we insure and for all mortgagees or other interested parties added to the policy.

Insurance to Value

We require a completed rebuilding evaluator acceptable to Intact Insurance on new business, or newly added risks to ensure that they are insured to 100% of their rebuilding cost. A current professional appraisal is also acceptable, provided it is a reconstruction calculation and not a real estate evaluation.

We have Household Inventory guides available that can be used to itemize and help determine the replacement cost on the insured's personal property.

Incidental Business Occupancy

Our personal property programs are designed to meet the everyday needs of people living in private dwellings, apartment buildings and residential condominiums. If the risk meets our underwriting guidelines, we will write an insured or spouse who uses part of the residence as an office.

Letters of Authorization

We will not accept Letters of Authorization to change the broker mid-term. If the insured wishes to change their broker mid-term, we will require a signed request to cancel the existing policy, which will be processed on a pro-rata basis, and a new, fully completed, signed CSIO application. A new policy will be issued. We will accept Letters of Authorization to change brokers on renewal.

PERSONAL INSURANCE PRODUCT MANUAL

---

NOTE: For Group policies, Letters of Authorization will not be accepted, due to the nature of this business. In order to identify the appropriate group, new applications must be submitted in all cases.

Policy Changes

All premium calculations are on a pro-rata basis unless otherwise noted.

Additional Insurance

A new coverage may be added for the balance of the policy period on a pro-rata basis. Additions are subject to the terms and rates in effect at the time the addition is made.

Deletion of Coverage

When deleting coverage, premium adjustment is made on a pro-rata basis.

Definitions*Bi-Level

Entry is between the two main floors on a landing, with a half flight of stairs to the upper level and a half flight of stairs to the lower level. The basement may be a crawl space similar to many split-level homes.

Duplex

Dwelling that is on 1 legal lot and has 2 distinct units, either one above the other or side by side. Each unit has its own separate entrances and services. No internal access between units.

Fire Resistive

A fire-resistive building has framing, bearing walls, floors and roofing made of reinforced concrete, protected by an approved fire-resistive material with a fire rating of at least 2 hours. The following are not considered "Fire-Resistive":

- Supported by unprotected steel
- Built prior to 1975
- Buildings with fewer than 8 units (living quarters)

Row Housing

A type of housing that is attached to similar units forming a row or a block 3 or more dwellings built in a row and joined by a common wall and roofline.

Row houses generally have the following characteristics:

- Individual and direct access to the street
- Built on a separate individually deeded lot
- Set at the same point on the property line as the adjoining dwelling
- Forms a uniform row along a street
- Shares identical or similar design

Overall, the difference between a row house and a town house is the grouping and height. Row houses are usually uniform, whereas townhouses can differ in shape, height and aesthetics

Semi Detached Dwelling

2 dwellings attached to each other with a common wall. Each half of the dwelling is on its own legal lot with separate deeded ownership. Even if the insured owns both halves of the building, regardless of occupancy each half must be insured individually.

Single Family Dwelling

A stand-alone structure designed for occupancy by a single-family unit. May include a rental suite(s)

PERSONAL INSURANCE PRODUCT MANUAL

---

Townhouse

A series of dwellings are typically in smaller groups within the row or stacked often within a shared complex. May not always share identical or similar designs.

Freehold:

- Insured owns and is responsible for both the interior and exterior of the dwelling
- There is no condo or strata corporation
- Common elements and street maintenance are the municipality's responsibility

Condominium:

- Insured owns and is responsible for the interior space of the dwelling
- Condo corporation or strata is responsible for the exterior and surrounding property
- Insured pays condo fees to the condo corporation or strata for items such as common elements

Parapets

Common walls (party walls) may be constructed as fire walls and must:

- Be at least 8 inches thick, made of concrete or concrete blocks; and
- Extend above the roof by at least 12 inches.

A parapet is a barrier which is an extension of the firewall above the edge of the roof to prevent the spread of fire from an attached or adjacent building.

Triplex

Same as Duplex, except triplex refers to 3 distinct units and fourplex refers to 4.

Earthquake:

Earthquake coverage cannot be bound on any risk until a period of 168 hours has passed following a 3.0 magnitude earthquake occurrence and where the risk location is within 100 kms of the epicentre.

- Any new business coverage within 100 kms of the epicentre of the earthquake must be referred prior to binding. We will not allow the purchase of the earthquake endorsement until the necessary requirements have been met.
- We will not allow the increase of values on existing business that has the earthquake endorsement applied, however, renewals will continue to be increased by our inflation factor.
- We will not allow the purchase of the earthquake endorsement on existing business that does not currently have it, nor will we allow changes from Building Only coverage to Building and Contents coverage for earthquake.
- We will not allow the earthquake deductible to be decreased.
- The 168-hour binding restriction period restarts each time there is an earthquake that is of a magnitude of 3.0 or greater.

Important note: The epicentre radius will be reviewed to determine if a greater radius is required on a case by case basis.

Forest Fires:

Coverage cannot be increased, added or bound on any risk or structure within a 25 km of a forest fire classified as “out of control”, as defined by the local government/authority or on any property facing immediate or potential threat from an advancing fire. Do not bind the coverage if you have any doubt to the proximity of a risk to a forest fire. For the purpose of binding, ‘forest fires’ include grass fires and bush fires.

Hurricane:

Following the publication or broadcast of a “Tropical storm/Hurricane watch or warning” by Environment Canada/Canadian Hurricane Centre for any area located along the Canadian Coastline:

- We will not bind on any new business or increase any outstanding liabilities on property, personal or commercial within 250 kms of where the watch or warning has been issued.
- We will not increase coverage on any auto risks, including adding physical damage coverage(s).
- Renewals may be issued on an “as expiring basis” for coverage and perils, with limits increased only to keep pace with established inflation factors.

These restrictions will take effect immediately following the publication of the hurricane storm watch/warning and remain in force until 48 hours after the hurricane/tropical storm watch/warning has ended.

Severe Weather & Floods:

Coverage or additional perils can not be increased, added or bound for any new or existing risks or structures in the imminent path of a major weather event when significant damage from an insured peril is highly probable. This restriction continues until the emergency or major weather event is over regardless if a state of emergency has been declared or not.

Evacuation Notices and Alerts

Coverage cannot be increased, added or bound on any risk or structure under a mandatory evacuation notice or alert.

The definition of “bound” includes:

Any new risk to Intact Insurance

- A “new risk” is defined as a new location or additional location, including (but not limited to) a seasonal risk.

Any change in coverage to an existing risk:

Changes include:

- Increasing a coverage form
- Increasing coverage limits
- Reducing the deductible
- Adding enhanced endorsement options
- Adding auto physical damage coverages

Coverage & Deductible Options for the Perils of Windstorm, Hail & Water Damage on Seasonal Broad Form Risks Only

We now provide customers the opportunity to tailor certain mandatory coverage in order to meet their unique needs. For instance, if a customer lives in an area likely impacted by hail, they should select policy limit coverage. If they are not affected by hail, they may choose to increase the deductible and/or reduce the coverage, reducing the premium for that particular peril. The following options provide that flexibility.

The default deductibles for these perils are:

- $2,500 for Windstorm & Hail Coverage
- $1,000 for Water Damage Coverage.

Note: The peril deductible cannot be less than the risk deductible.

Variables Reference Guide

Homeowners

At Intact Insurance, we use many variables to offer an individualized rate to each customer, based on their unique characteristics, experience, and details of their home. There are many rating factors acting together to determine the final premium, and this guide can help you with explaining these variables to your customers. The specific data used to develop the premium can be found on the Coverage Summary page and the Customer Information page.

Rating variable	What you need to know
Type of Coverage	The type of coverage purchased is considered in rating: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Homeowner Comprehensive Form</li><li>• Homeowner Broad Form</li><li>• Homeowner Standard Form</li><li>• Homeowner Seasonal Broad Form</li></ul>
Postal Code	The six-character postal code is used to determine the rating territories for each peril or type of loss. The postal code and full street address must be accurate and valid with Canada Post. PO box numbers should not be used.
Amount of Insurance	Amount of insurance is considered in rating. The home must be insured to 100% of the estimated cost to rebuild. This is determined using an Intact-approved cost calculator.
Age of the Customer	The date of birth of the first named insured is used in rating. Rather than being discounted after a set age, the rate is affected gradually as the customer matures.
Age of Building	Age of building is considered in rating. The rate is affected gradually as the dwelling gets older.
Credit Score	If your customer provides consent for using credit*, their individual credit score is considered in rating. It will only be used if it is to their benefit. Credit does not affect coverage or eligibility for insurance in any way. * Not available in Newfoundland
Occupancy Type	Occupancy type (primary residence, secondary residence) is considered in rating.
Number of Families	The number of units located in a dwelling is considered in rating.
Number of Mortgages	The number of mortgages registered against the property is considered in rating. Secured lines of credit are not treated the same as mortgages.

Rating variable	What you need to know
Construction Type	The type of home, including construction material and style must be captured accurately to ensure the risk is rated correctly.
Exterior Wall Finish	The type of material used to finish the exterior of the dwelling is considered in rating. Certain materials are considered as weather resistant: brick (solid or veneer), cement fiber board / shingles, stone (solid or veneer) and stucco. When the dwellings exterior finish is equally two or more finishes, select the finish that will generate the greater rebuilding cost. Example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>o A home has 60% frame and 40% brick - select frame</li> <li>o A home has 50% frame and 50% brick - select brick</li> </ul>
Primary Heating	The type of heating system is considered in rating.
Secondary Heating Source	Auxiliary sources of heating which use solid fuel (e.g. wood-burning stove, pellet stove) are considered in rating.
Fuel Tank Type /Location	Fuel tank type and location are considered in rating.
Roofing Materials	The type of roofing material is considered in rating. Certain materials are recognized as hail and windstorm-resistant: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>· Class 4 rated impact resistant asphalt shingles</li> <li>· Metal, rubber, slate, concrete or clay roofing tiles</li> </ul>
Finished Basement	The percentage of the basement that is finished is considered in rating. This refers to an area of the basement that can be used as a living space.
Number of years since last update	The year of the last major update (either full or partial) to the roof, electrical, heating and plumbing systems are considered in rating. Maintenance work, such as replacing light fixtures, plumbing or heating components, or certain roof shingles is not considered to be a major update.
Water Damage Prevention Measures	Customers are rewarded for taking certain steps to prevent water damage in their home. The following loss mitigation measures are considered in rating: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>· Automatic shut-off valve with water flow device that has been professionally installed on the main water line after the water meter.</li> <li>· Automatic shut-off valve with 4 or more sensors industry approved (ULC/CSA), professionally installed on the main water line after the water meter.</li> <li>· A backwater valve that has been installed on the home's main sewer line and protects the entire plumbing system.</li> <li>· An alarmed sump pump or a sump pump with a back-up system.</li> <li>· Or, if the home is on a septic system.</li> </ul>

Hot Water Tank	Tankless hot water system and the age of the hot water tank are considered in rating.
Claims Details	The number and type of claims in the past 10 years are considered in rating. Number of years without claims is also considered in rating. Claims for which the Claims Advantage or Lifestyle Advantage endorsement has been used are not counted. Children moving out for the first time will qualify for claims free 3 years of experience only if the parent's policy is: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Currently in force and is</li> <li>• Truly claims free for the last 3 years</li> </ul>

Fire &/or Burglar Alarm	The type of burglar or fire alarm protecting the home is considered in rating.
Stability of Residence	The number of full years your customer has lived in their principal dwelling is considered in rating. This is based on the last move date, so it's important to include this information with a new application. Begins after living one full year at the same location.
Deductible	There are many deductible options available.
Additional Factors	Certain other factors may be considered in rating and influence the final premium: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• my home &amp; auto™ policy</li> <li>• Sewer Back Up Extension - ACV Personal Property</li> </ul>

Fire Protection Definitions

Hydrant Protected:

- ▶ Dwelling is situated within 300 metres (1,000 feet) of a hydrant; and
- ▶ Is serviced by a responding fire department within 13 kms (8 miles).

Firehall Protected:

- ▶ Dwelling is situated within 13 kms (8 miles) of a responding fire department, by roads normally kept open year-round.

Unprotected:

- ▶ No fire protection.
- ▶ There is either no responding fire department or the responding fire department is more than 13 kms (8 miles) away.

Notes:

- ▶ If there is a hydrant within the required distance, but there is no responding fire department within 13 kms or 8 miles, the risk will be considered Unprotected.
- ▶ Some locations that are hydrant protected or have a responding fire hall may not meet our requirements due to inadequate water supply or other deficiency. If a customer is not sure if a hydrant is active or has adequate water supply, we recommend they verify the information with the municipality to confirm if it meets the necessary requirements.

Glossary

Home Heating - Glossary of Terms

This glossary provides a description of the terms associated with the heating system and the various fuel sources. Refer to the following sections of the manual, for underwriting eligibility: (1) Decline rules, (2) Refer rules, (3) Primary Heat, (4) Auxiliary Heat, (5) Oil Heating Systems, and (6) Solid Fuel Heating Systems.

Anthracite	Anthracite is considered clean coal. In residential stoves, its combustion does not generate creosote and emits few volatile particles. The extremely high carbon content of anthracite also means that this fuel produces a lot of heat relative to its mass
Appliance	A term that applies to a device, and all its components, which converts fuel energy into a useful heat source.  Certified Appliance – An appliance which has been tested by a certification body and typically has a plate or sticker (usually located on the back of the unit) listing requirements of installation.
Add-On	A solid fuel appliance designed to share the heat distribution system connected to an oil, gas, or electric appliance.
Automatic Backup Heating System	Any other heating appliance fueled by electricity, gas, oil, or propane, used to automatically supplement primary furnaces such as: wood furnace, geothermal, etc.
Auxiliary Heat	Any heating or appliance used to supplement the primary heat.
Baseboard Heater	An electric or gas-powered heating appliance located along the perimeter walls of a room or space.
Biomass	Biomass is plant material that can be turned into fuel (also known as biofuel when it is made from biological material) to supply heat and electricity. Bioenergy can be obtained from many forms of biofuels.  For example: Biomass feedstocks include dedicated energy crops, agricultural crop residues, forestry residues, algae, wood processing residues, municipal waste, and wet waste.
Boiler	A centralized self-contained heating device where water is warmed and circulated through the location in a series of pipes that supplies hot water or steam for heating purposes. The boiler can be powered by electricity, wood, oil, or gas
Carbon Monoxide	Carbon monoxide is released when appliances burn fuel such as propane, wood or oil. The installation of a carbon monoxide detector in the presence of this type of heating is highly recommended.
Central Heating	A central heating system transfers heat-transfer fluids (e.g., hot water or glycol) through pipes and radiators, as well as hot air through a duct system that heats the entire home. It is typically fueled by oil, natural gas, electric, or propane.
Certification	Canadian Standards Association (CSA) – Certification related to the safety of consumer products. CSA certifies in over fifty different areas, including electrical and electronic appliances.  Underwriters Laboratories of Canada (ULC) – ULC standards are designed to ensure the safety and reliability of various appliances, materials and building components.  Warnock Hersey by Intertek (WH/ Intertek) – Safety standards for the performance and quality of combustion appliances, including fire risk.  Omni-Test Laboratories (OTL) – Certification body that accredits combustion heating appliances such as stoves and certain types of fireplaces.  Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) – U.S. certification agency for emissions and discharges of harmful pollutants. This certification is not for fire risk. EPA is the only foreign certification recognized in Canada

Certified Installer	A contractor with the necessary certification required to install and/or certify the specified appliance. Example: WETT certification for solid fuel appliance Back to top
Chimney	A vertical shaft with at least one flue line enclosed to conduct flue gasses to the outdoors. Masonry Chimney – Constructed with brick, stone, clay, concrete or masonry. Factory Built Chimney – Constructed entirely of factory-built parts and each piece is designed to be assembled with each other and can be assembled professionally off-site.
Chimney Cap	A metal or masonry cap placed on top of the exterior of the chimney, designed to prevent rain or snow entry into the flue. In some cases, this is also used to control the draft within the chimney
Chimney Liner	An inner sleeve that lines the chimney. It is made of high temperature-resistant clay or stainless steel.
Combination Furnace	Wood/Coal – Gas/Oil – This type of furnace allows continuous heat and burns either wood/coal and gas, or wood/coal and oil. It has separate combustion chambers that are connected beside each other. The burner starts by burning solid fuel (wood or coal). When the home is warm enough, the burner shuts off. If no wood or coal is added, the furnace will operate as a conventional gas or oil furnace until more solid fuel is added to the fire box. Oil/Electric – This is an oil furnace with factory installed electric heating elements. The electric elements supply most of the heat, and the burner only works when the temperature drops due to very cold weather. Wood/Electric – This is a wood furnace that has built-in heating elements, only activated when the wood furnace cannot meet the heating requirements of the home. It uses the ductwork system of the dwelling to move heat through the building.
Creosote	Creosote is the waste product of wood combustion (appears dusty, puffy, flaky, or oily like tar).
Damper	A movable plate or regulator valve that increases or decreases the flow of air or flue gas
Densified Wood Logs	Also called “ecological logs” that are composed of wood residues compressed in the form of logs. These are very dense and often contain dangerous additives
Electric Thermal Storage Heater	A specialized electric heater that stores heat during off-peak hours, and releases the heat as required.
Ethanol	Ethanol - This is an alcohol-based fuel that is intended for fireplaces which generates little heat and does not require a chimney. Ethanol Fireplace - A fireplace that specifically uses ethanol as a fuel source. Ethanol Fire Table – An ethanol appliance that is not affixed and can be placed on a pedestal or a table for decorative purposes.

Fireplace	Factory-Built Fireplace – A fireplace is an insulated box designed to be an integral part of the dwelling's wall. It can be coated with gypsum, stone, brick, steel, or other materials. A certified chimney must be installed in accordance with the manufacturer's guidelines. Fireplace Insert - A wood fireplace insert is a stove specifically built and certified to be installed in an existing masonry fireplace opening and converts it into an efficient heat source such as radiant heat or mechanical circulating fans. There are also gas &amp; electric fireplace inserts. Free-Standing Fireplace – A manufactured unit usually found in the middle of a room, open on all sides, and is generally for aesthetic use only. Sometimes referred to as an "malm" fireplace. Masonry Fireplace – A built-in fireplace structure using masonry materials and does not typically have a fan that circulates hot air to help heat the home. It consists of a hearth, flue, and chimney as one unit. Masonry Heater – Is a device that looks like a masonry fireplace but is solely used for warming an interior space through radiant heating at a constant temperature for an extended period of time (18 to 24 hours). Zero Clearance Fireplace – A premanufactured metal firebox that is completely self-contained and insulated, which keeps the outside of the fireplace from getting too hot, protecting the materials surrounding the unit. This allows it to need zero distance from combustible materials, such as walls, wood, and paneling.
Floor Protection	Floor Pad - A non-combustible surface that is placed underneath the heating appliance and extends to its front, sides, and rear to prevent embers and radiant heat from igniting. Floor Protection - The extension of a hearth beyond the opening of a fireplace, or surface of non-combustible material. There are two types of floor protection: 1) Ember protection and 2) Heat radiation protection.
Flue Pipe	The component(s) of the venting system that connect(s) an appliance to a wall pass-through assembly or to a factory-built chimney component.
Forced Air Furnace	A type of a central heating system that delivers heated air from a central furnace to every room of the house through a series of ducts. It is typically fueled by gas, oil, propane, or electricity. It has three major components: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Heat exchanger</li> <li>• Burner</li> <li>• Blower</li> </ul> These units can be the central heating system, integrated into a bi-energy system (heating system that uses two sources of energy), and can also be part of an approved combination furnace.
Geothermal Heating	This heating system is also called a "thermal ground source heat pump" that utilizes underground "earth heat" and is powered by electricity. There are three components: Back to top <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1) Heat pump – In the winter, it extracts and transfers the heat stored from the ground into the dwelling. In the summer, it transfers the warm air from the dwelling into the ground. The air is then exchanged for cool air and sent into the house.</li> <li>2) Underground loop – This closed, ground loop serves as the heat source and the heat sink. Note: an open loop means that the system is submerged in water.</li> <li>3) Distribution system – This can be a central forced air system, a hot water system, or a hybrid system involving hydronic radiant heat. A system with air ducts can provide air-conditioning to every room. For dwellings equipped with a hydronic system, air ducts must be installed for central air-conditioning.</li> </ol> The system requires extensive excavating or drilling to prepare the ground for the installation of high-density polyethylene pipes that can run either vertically or horizontally underground.

Gravity Furnace	Antique furnace that is used to burn coal or wood in a combustion chamber which heats the surrounding air. The air travels through the duct work by gravity and heats the rest of the house. Unlike a forced air furnace, this system contains no blower and must be fed manually. It is a giant stove. Many of these furnaces were converted over to oil or natural gas in the mid 1920's.
Heat Pumps	Heat Pump – Fueled by electricity, heat pumps are used for either the heating or cooling of your home by transferring heat between two reservoirs. In the warmer months, the heat pump acts like an air conditioner through ducts, moving heat from inside your home to the outside. During winter months, heat from outdoors is transferred to the interior of your home. The effectiveness of the heat pump is reduced in temperatures below freezing. Many homeowners use heat pumps as air conditioners in the summer while using another heat source in the winter. Mini Split Heat Pump – A smaller unit that is efficient and inexpensive compared to central heat pump systems. It is a ductless air-source meant to accompany an alternate heat source to ensure temperature stability in the room.
Masonry Heaters	A masonry heater (also called a masonry stove) is a device for warming an interior space through radiant heating, by capturing the heat from periodic burning of fuel (usually wood), and then radiating the heat at a constant temperature for an extended period.
Natural Gas	A mix of hydrocarbon gases that can be used to fuel a central heating furnace or a fireplace. This gas is distributed by pipeline and does not require tank installation.
Oil Tank	Indoor Tank – A tank and supply line located in the dwelling. Outdoor Tank – A tank and supply line, all, or part of which is located outside or in an additional building.
Outdoor Wood-Fired Boiler	A wood burning furnace located outside of the dwelling. The heat released by combustion is absorbed and transported by water into the dwelling by underground pipes. This water is then used to heat the house, by wall-mounted conducts or underfloor heating systems. A hot water tank stores the heat for later use.
Pellets	Small cylinders of compacted wood or biomass products and sold in bags to use as solid fuel for furnaces, stoves, or fireplace.
Pellet Heaters	These appliances can be stoves, fireplaces or furnaces and are categorized by their automatic fuel feed, thermostatic controls and forced mechanical ventilation.
Plenum	A metal sheet box mounted on the outlet or inlet of the furnace and is used to connect duct pipes to the heating distribution system within the dwelling.
Propane Gas	A gaseous hydrocarbon generally used for auxiliary heating systems and is always stored in cylinders. This gas is heavier than air and can accumulate in the event of a leak. When propane cylinders are used seasonally, they should be stored in a well-ventilated area protected from vehicular impact.
Protective Sheath/Sleeve	A protective membrane that wraps around the supply pipe (e.g., oil). It prevents leakage and corrosion and has been mandatory since 2007.
Radiant Heating	Electric Radiant Heating – A radiant heating system that runs on electricity in the form of heating panels, films, or cables. They are installed and embedded in the floor or ceiling. The full system includes a thermostat. Hydronic Radiant Heating –An electric, natural gas or oil-fired boiler produces heat, which is then transported by water or glycol circulated through closed-loop tubing into the flooring. This system can maintain different temperatures in different areas of the home.

Solar Energy Heating	Appliances which use the sun to heat an intervening medium that is then used to supply heat to a dwelling. Direct Energy – Direct solar energy can be converted to electrical energy through the technology of photovoltaic (PV) panels. These panels consist of solar cells that trap energy to produce electricity. An inverter converts the energy, which is then used for immediate electrical needs or stored. Active Energy – Active solar energy is used to heat water and/or air via solar collectors. Active solar energy panels convert sunlight into heat for water and space heating. Active solar energy systems are very efficient for heating hot water for swimming pools or typical use, as well as for warming liquid for radiant floor heating. Passive Energy – Passive solar energy is generally considered the easiest and most cost-effective way to provide heat in new buildings. Instead of mechanical equipment, building elements such as walls, windows, floors, and roofs control heat generated by solar radiation. A large mass is placed within the space to receive the most direct sunlight. The heat gains are then radiated and distributed by fans to regulate temperature.
Soot	Soft particles of black carbon found inside appliances, chimneys and flues that originate from oxygen-poor flames
Space Heater	Any appliance used to heat a room or space within a dwelling without the use of duct work. Space heaters can be fueled by electricity, gas, or oil. Only permanently installed space heaters are acceptable for primary heat.
Spark Arrester	Used to prevent sparks, embers, and other burning particles from being expelled from the house through the chimney.
Temporary Appliance	Any appliance that is not permanently installed and can be unplugged and moved any time.
Thimble	A device installed in the combustible walls or ceilings through which the flue pipe passes. It is meant to protect the walls from igniting from the direct heat of the flue pipe and is generally made from metal or fire resistive clay.
Wall and Floor Convectors	A heating unit that is installed in walls or between joists that circulates air in the area. There are no ductworks attached to these units
WETT Inspection	Wood Energy Technology Transfer Inc. (WETT Inc.) is a non-profit training and education association managed by a volunteer Board of Directors elected by holders of valid WETT certificates. Through its administrative designate, WETT Inc. functions as the national registrar of the WETT program. Through professional training and public education, WETT Inc. promotes the safe and effective use of wood-burning systems in Canada. Refer to www.wettinc.ca for more details
Wood (Full/Bush Cords)	Face Cord – The measurement of a face cord may vary from province to province Full/Bush Cord - A full cord measures 1.2m x 2,4m x 1.2m (4ft x 8 ft x 4ft.)
Woodstove	A self-supporting appliance that should be placed on a non-combustible surface and must be connected to a flue pipe and approved chimney

Electrical Systems General Information

A residential electrical system is comprised of wiring, control panels (breakers or fuses) and receptacles that deliver electricity to appliances. All electrical installations must meet the Canadian Electrical Code (CEC) safety standards.

100 amp or more with Breaker Service Panel and Copper Wiring is adequate for most homes and is acceptable.

These dates are approximate only; the specific installation years may vary region to region depending on building codes and local building practices

Unacceptable Types of Electrical Systems

- Knob and tube live wiring (full or partial)
  - Concerns: No grounding wire or protection, susceptible to wear and stripping due to age, prone to arcing.
- Aluminum live wiring (full or partial) without an electrical inspection
  - Concerns: not as resilient as copper wiring, has a higher rate of thermal expansion, which may cause loose terminations and connections, resulting in possible arcing, melting and fire. Prone to overheating at connections between the wire and devices (switches and outlets) or at splices.
- 60 Amp Breaker Service
  - Concerns: not enough power supply for homes with modern electric appliance as it would cause overloads.
- Fuse panels
  - Concerns: may contain exposed electrical connections. Fuses may not be promptly replaced once blown or contain fuses with a voltage that is too high, which will result in an overheating.
- C.E.B. (Models: MB 40-10, MB 40-10A, MB 40-03, MB 400A, NH 70, A-60-36), Amalgamated Brand (100 Amp) panels
  - Concerns: no longer CSA approved; were used between 1950 and 1980.

PERSONAL INSURANCE PRODUCT MANUAL

Special consideration for existing customers who own dwellings with unacceptable electrical systems

Unacceptable electrical systems may be accommodated for the existing customers.

- Adding a new risk:
  - We will decline if there is no intent to upgrade electrical system.
  - We will allow 60 days to upgrade to the acceptable wiring type and panel.
  - Customer must provide confirmation of installation, verbal is acceptable.
  - We reserve the right to cancel, terminate or lapse any risk if the confirmation of upgrade has not been received.
- Existing risks when unacceptable electrical system (except Aluminum wiring) is newly discovered:
  - We will allow 6 months or until renewal (whichever is longer) to upgrade to the acceptable wiring type and panel.
  - Customer must provide confirmation of installation, verbal is acceptable.
  - We reserve the right to cancel, terminate or lapse any risk if the confirmation of upgrade has not been received.
- Existing risks with Aluminum wiring: no immediate action is required if no new losses or no deterioration.

Aluminum Wiring (Full or Partial) with Electrical Inspection

The customer is responsible for arranging and paying for the electrical inspection.

Inspection must:

- Be completed within last 12 months.
- Be completed or signed off by a certified Master Electrician.
- Verify if the wiring links with the distribution panel are acceptable.
- Identify any abnormal curvature of the wiring in the visible locations (Electrical code requires bends in the wire to be of a certain radius; aluminum fatigues and break down more readily when subjected to bending than copper).
- Contain reference that sockets or circuit switches are compatible with materials used (all switches and outlets must be aluminum wire rated).

In addition, for partial aluminum wiring, inspection must:

- Verify the joints between the aluminum and copper are properly connected or pig-tailed (a short piece of copper wire is attached to the aluminum wire with a specially designed metal sleeve and powered crimping tool or with a twist-on connector).

Electrical Updates

Electrical systems should be checked and required remedial action taken for dimming lights, tripping circuit breakers, over-reliance on extension cords, burning smell, hot receptacles, loose plugs or overloaded outlets.

None or unknown	Use the original year of construction
Partial	Indicate specific percentage if less than 100% and year that partial wiring circuit breaker and receptacles were replaced.
Full	Add year that all of wiring circuit breaker and receptacles were fully replaced
Items not considered as an electrical update	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Replacement of receptacles, switches, light bulbs, or fixtures</li> <li>• Maintenance of electrical system</li> </ul>

Plumbing Terminology

Residential plumbing consists of a system of pipes, drains and valves for the distribution of water for domestic use and the removal of wastewater and other waterborne domestic waste.

Supply Lines	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Supplies water from the main line to essential home fixtures, including showers, sinks and toilets.</li> <li>Pipes that carry clean water are under pressure and may be more prone to leaking.</li> </ul>
Drainage Lines	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The central point of the wastewater drainage system is the waste stack.</li> <li>All drainage pipes flow into the waste stack, which directs wastewater through the building sewer system and into the main sewer.</li> </ul>

Unacceptable Types of Plumbing

- Lead
  - Concerns: according to Health Canada, ingesting even low levels of lead has been shown to be a health hazard.
- Galvanized Steel
  - Concerns: prone to corrosion and buildup of lime, scale and rust which reduces the interior diameter of the piping.
- Kitec
  - Concerns: system was recalled in 2005 due to corrosion issues with the brass fittings and was subject to a Canadian National class action lawsuit in 2012.

Special Consideration for existing customers who own dwelling with unacceptable plumbing

Unacceptable types of plumbing may be accommodated for the existing customers.

- Adding a new risk:
  - We will decline if there is no intent to upgrade plumbing.
  - We will allow 60 days to upgrade to one of the acceptable plumbing types (copper, PEX, PVC, or ABS).
  - Customer must provide confirmation of installation, verbal is acceptable.
  - We reserve the right to cancel, terminate or lapse any risk if the confirmation of upgrade has not been received.

PERSONAL INSURANCE PRODUCT MANUAL

- Existing risks when unacceptable plumbing is discovered:
  - We will allow 6 months or until renewal (whichever is longer) to upgrade to acceptable plumbing type (copper, PEX, PVC, or ABS).
  - Customer must provide confirmation of installation, verbal is acceptable.
  - We reserve the right to cancel, terminate or lapse any risk if the confirmation of upgrade has not been received.

Poly B Plumbing

Concerns with Poly B plumbing:

- A common failure with Poly B piping centers around its sensitivity to both temperature and chlorine, both common in hot water systems.
- Over time the piping is chemically degraded (weakened) and fails under system pressure. This degradation occurs on the inside wall of the pipe, which means piping can be dangerously degraded, but can look perfectly normal on the outside.
- Another common failure relates to fittings or crimp connectors and tightening which creates micro-cracking, leading to failure at these connections.
- In 2005, the Government of Canada officially banned Poly B due to a substantial volume of lawsuits filed, and it was removed from the National Plumbing Code of Canada.

In light of the concerns with Poly B plumbing, the following rules apply:

- Any dwelling with Poly B plumbing must be referred to underwriting.
- New business may be acceptable if an Approved Water Mitigation System is already present in the dwelling:
  - Professionally installed
  - ULC, CSA, or PREVCAN approved
  - A minimum of 4 water sensors and a water flow device that automatically shuts off the water, and
  - Centrally monitored or connected to the customer's cell phone for notifications.

Special consideration for existing customers who own dwellings with Poly B plumbing

Poly B plumbing may be accommodated for the existing customers.

- Adding a new risk:
  - We will decline if there is no intent to install an Approved Water Mitigation System.
  - We will allow 60 days to install an Approved Water Mitigation System.
  - Customer must provide confirmation of installation, verbal is acceptable.
  - We reserve the right to cancel, terminate or lapse any risk if the confirmation of installation has not been received.
- Existing risks: we will underwrite accordingly on existing risks with any plumbing deterioration or a new water loss.

Plumbing Updates

Earthquake

Overview

The Earthquake Damage Assumption Endorsement covers loss or damage arising directly from the peril of earthquake and may be written as an extension to property risks.

Limitations for Binding

Earthquake coverage cannot be bound during an earthquake event. For details, please refer to the Binding Authority section of the product manual for Earthquake Binding Limitation.

Basis of Claim Settlement

In the event of loss or damage caused by an Earthquake:

- Guaranteed Replacement Cost, if applicable, is limited to 125% of Coverage A – Dwelling Building limit.
- The requirement to rebuild on the same site is removed, providing more flexibility and options on where customers can rebuild or replace their homes.
- Single Amount of Insurance, if applicable, does not apply.

Application of Deductible

The deductible amount is calculated by applying the deductible percentage shown on the Coverage Summary page, to the amount of insurance shown for this endorsement. This deductible will apply to the total loss payable in an earthquake occurrence.

Example of deductible application:

• Coverage A – Dwelling Building:	$1,000,000
• Coverage B – Additional Buildings:	$100,000
• Coverage C – Personal Property:	$800,000
• Amount of Insurance printed on the Coverage Summary page:	$1,800,000
• Earthquake Endorsement Deductible:	2%
Deductible per earthquake occurrence:	$36,000

Deductible

2% applies to the total loss payable in an earthquake occurrence.

Premium

Due to the complexity of our rating algorithm, an electronic means of quoting is required.

Enhanced Water Damage Package

Sewer Back Up Extension – ACV Personal Property (SBAC)

This endorsement allows customers another means of reducing their premium for Sewer Back Up coverage by amending the basis of claim settlement to Actual Cash Value (ACV) on Personal Property (Contents). When added, it will be used as a rating variable to reduce the Sewer Back Up portion of the premium. This option is not available if Lifestyle Advantage™ is present on the risk.

PERSONAL INSURANCE PRODUCT MANUAL

Overland Water

If the Enhanced Water Damage Package is purchased, and the risk is located in an eligible Overland Water Zone, Overland Water coverage is automatically included in the package, along with Sewer Back Up and Sewer and Water Lines coverage. It is not available to be purchased separately, nor can it be removed from the package while the risk remains in an eligible zone.

- The Ground Water component is not automatically included as it is an optional coverage that may be purchased only if Overland Water coverage is present on a risk.
- Eligibility for Overland Water will be determined by the location of a risk, and the Overland Water Zone it resides in.
- Overland Water Zones 01 through 07 (see chart below) will be determined by either geocoding (specific longitude, latitude and elevation of a risk) or by postal code when a geocode is not available.
- Coverage limits can be bought up or down from the default limit (in increments of $10,000) from $10,000 to $100,000 or Policy Limit (same as Sewer Back Up), but the Overland Water Coverage Limit can never be higher than the Sewer Back Up coverage limit, and can never be less than $10,000.
- The Overland Water Deductible must always match the Sewer Back Up Deductible.

Overland Water Zones		Default Coverage Limit
01	Low	Equal to Sewer Back Up Coverage Limit
02	Medium	$10,000 (Higher limits can be purchased)
03
04
05, 06, 07	High	Not Available

1. Zone 1 is Low Risk. The coverage default will be equal to the Sewer Back Up coverage limit, which could be from $10,000 to policy limit.
2. Zones 02, 03 and 04 are Medium Risk. The coverage in these zones will default to $10,000, but higher limits are available to be purchased.
3. Zones 05, 06 and 07 are High Risk. Risks in these zones will not qualify for Overland Water coverage, which means Ground Water coverage will not be available for purchase either.

Water and Sewer Lines Coverage

- This coverage is only available as part of the Enhanced Water Damage Package. It cannot be purchased separately or be removed from the package.
- Coverage Limit is $10,000 and no other options are available.
- The Sewer and Water Lines Deductible will be equal to the Water Damage Peril Deductible (clean water). If a different deductible is required, the Water Damage Deductible must also be amended.

PERSONAL INSURANCE PRODUCT MANUAL
Ground Water Coverage

- This is an optional coverage available for Homeowner and Seasonal Broad Homeowner risk types located in an eligible Overland Water Zone (see chart above).
- In order to purchase this coverage, the customer must carry the Enhanced Water Damage Package, including the Overland Water component.
- If purchased, the coverage limit and deductible will always be equal to the coverage limit and deductible of the Overland Water portion of the Enhanced Water Damage Package.
- Ground Water Coverage is not available to any of the other risk types following in this section.

Note:

All events for which these coverages apply (Sewer Back Up, Overland Water and Ground Water) which occur within 168 consecutive hours will be considered as one occurrence. This means that one deductible and one coverage limit will apply.

If coded on the policy, the mitigation measures below will be used as rating variables and where noted, will reduce the Enhanced Water Damage Package premium.

Resident Health Care Facility Coverage

Resident Health Care Facility Coverage – RHC

This endorsement provides coverage for Personal Property owned by family members who are dependent on the insured for support and reside in a Resident Health Care Facility.

Liability coverage is also extended to the family member(s) by amending the definition of 'insured' in the policy wording to include family members residing in a Resident Health Care Facility.

A family member is defined as your parent, son, daughter, brother, sister or spouse.

Resident Health Care Facility means an institution that provides health care services to persons who live on the facility's premises. ## Additional Loss Assessment Extension

Additional Loss Assessment Extension – LAE

This endorsement provides an increased amount, up to a maximum of $25,000 to cover that part of an assessment made necessary by an earthquake deductible in the insurance policy of the Condominium Corporation. The assessment protection extension applies to direct loss to the collectively owned condominium property

Premium

- $10

Bare Land Condominium Endorsement

Bare Land Condominiums – 120

This is a form of condominium co-ownership whereby an individual purchases a share in the land owned by the Condominium Corporation, as opposed to a share in the property of the Corporation.

From an insurance perspective, the key difference between this type of co-ownership and other condominiums is that the individual is responsible for arranging coverage for the dwelling.

A Homeowners policy is therefore the appropriate form of coverage. However, because the Corporation (or Association) has the right to levy special assessments against the individual owners for losses to, or arising from, the collectively owned property, an endorsement is available to provide coverage for this exposure.

The Bare Land Condominium Loss Assessment endorsement provides physical damage and liability assessment coverage up to $25,000 for each with a sub-limit of $2,500 to cover that part of an assessment made necessary by an earthquake deductible in the insurance policy of the Condominium Corporation.

Premium

- $25

Additional By-Laws Endorsement

In the event of an insured loss, this endorsement covers the additional cost of changes, as stipulated in any bylaw.

One of underwriting's responsibilities is to assess each risk for all aspects of acceptability including payment plan preferences. Intact retains the right to decline a payment plan option for certain policies.

REINSTATEMENTS

- Before the Effective Date of Termination
  - The decision to reinstate is based on the acceptability of the overall risk.
  - The full required premium including applicable fees must be received by credit card, certified cheque or money order.
- After the Legal Date of Termination
  - A policy will not be reinstated once cancellation has become effective.
  - If coverage is required, a new application may be submitted for consideration with no backdating of coverage.
  - Any outstanding earned premium from the prior policy must accompany the application.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Accounts Receivable Portfolio Conversion (Transferring from Agency Bill to Direct Bill)

- Owner or Principal of brokerage to request the change in writing, including:
  - Effective date to start, a minimum of 60 days in the future (We recommend the first day of the month.)
  - Applicable lines of business (Personal Lines, Commercial Lines, or both).
- Policies will be automatically transferred at renewal. For more information, please contact your regional underwriting branch

Bank information

- If the customer has changed banking institutions/branches or changes bank accounts, have the customer complete, sign the 'Change in Banking Information' form, and attach a void cheque.
- Send void cheques and completed authorization forms directly to Accounts Receivable with at least 14 days' notice for changes or contact Customer Accounts. Once payment information has been sent to the financial institution, we cannot stop a withdrawal.

Billing plan changes

- To avoid processing delays, forward billing plan changes to wr.dbaccounts@intact.net or contact Customer Accounts.

Choice of withdrawal dates

- The Monthly Pay Plan offers customers the flexibility to choose a preferred withdrawal date. This date must fall within 15 days of the policy effective date. Note that a preferred date may decrease the number of payment instalments.

Overdraft protection

- Clients who arrange overdraft protection with their bank or financial institution avoid various problems that arise from insufficient funds, as well as the risk of cancellation. We encourage you to suggest this bank service to those clients who choose to make payments via automatic bank withdrawal (pre-authorized debit).

Personal information

- To ensure the security of personal information, do not send credit card details by email and do not enter credit card or banking information in any policy notes.
